

Help With Costs

At Stanford, if your annual family income with typical assets is:

Stanford is committed to a need-blind admission policy for U.S. citizens, undocumented students, and permanent residents. Students are admitted without regard to their ability to pay. We encourage you to visit our net price calculator on our website to determine what level of financial aid you can expect.

For more information and a link to our financial aid calculator, visit FINANCIALAID.STANFORD.EDU.

The Cost of Attendance is an example of the full cost for one year at Stanford—both the billed costs such as tuition and fees, and the out-of-pocket costs like travel and personal expenses. Students are not expected to borrow when their family is unable to cover the full cost. Stanford awards scholarship and grant funds to cover the difference between the cost of attendance and the amount the student and parents can reasonably be expected to pay. More than 80% of our students in recent years graduate without any student debt. Those who do borrow do so at levels lower than national averages and are able to repay their loans without going into default.	2026–2027 COST OF ATTENDANCE
	Tuition	$67,731
	Housing and Food	$22,944
	Student Fees	$2,610
	Books and Supplies	$855
	Personal Expenses	$3,405
	Travel*	$1,500
	Total	$99,045

* Travel amount is adjusted based on the cost of two round trips between your home and campus.

TYPICAL FINANCIAL AID PACKAGES

All scholarship recipients are expected to help with the costs of their own education. Most are able to meet this amount through summer earnings as well as part-time, on-campus jobs. Outside scholarships may also be used to meet this amount.

Old Union