

JUSTICE BLATCHFORD BURIED.

His Body Rests Beside the Deceased & Members of His Family in Greenwood.

The body of the late Samuel Blatchford, Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court, was laid to rest yesterday noon in the family plot in Greenwood Cemetery. The funeral party reached this city Tuesday night on a special train from Newport.

When the body arrived at the cemetery it was lowered into the grave without religious ceremony, the funeral service having been read at Newport Tuesday.

The pall bearers were Chief Justice Melville W. Fuller and Associate Justices Horace Gray, David J. Brewer, George Shiras, Jr., and Howell E. Jackson of the United States Supreme Court, Judges E. Henry Lacombe, Nathaniel Shipman, Charles N. Benedict, Hoyt H. Wheeler, Addison Brown, Alfred C. Coxe, Charles Andrews, John C. Gray, John Sedgwick, and Messrs. Seth Low, Sidney Webster, John L. Cadwalader, and James Lowndes.

Still Another Trolley Victim.

Another child was killed in Brooklyn by a trolley car yesterday. Maggie Doran, four years old, of 16 Bancroft Street was playing on Fulton Street near Ralph Avenue, when trolley car No. 232 of the Brooklyn City Railroad line ran over her and killed her instantly. The motorman and conductor were arrested.

William Driscoll, the motorman, and Conductor Thomas McGarry of the Fifth Avenue trolley car which killed little Lorella Kearns on Tuesday evening, were yesterday discharged from custody by Police Justice Tighe, because no one appeared to prosecute them.

Deserted Her "Dear Darling Jacob."

Jacob Fischer of 284 Graham Avenue, Williamsburg, returned home from his work in Maspeth and found his home deserted by his wife. She had left a letter, which read:

MY DEAR DARLING JACOB: I don't love you any more. I have gone to Maspeth, and you had better go to Chicago. WIFEY.

Fischer believes his wife eloped with a friend named Charles Brandt, and yesterday he tried to secure a warrant for their arrest, but at the Ewen Street Police Court he was told that he could not be accommodated.
